SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAMME

Tuesday morning Louisville paid its tribute in commemoration of the death of the Irish martyrs recently executed in Dublin. The services, while religious in character and aspect, were open to all creeds, in order that all true lovers of liberty of thought and action might join in the exercises.

At St. Mary Magdalen's church, Brook and College, which was filled possibly as never before, a solemn requiem high mass was sung for the repose of the souls of the "Irish patriots of 1916." The sanctuary was draped in black, the American and Irish flags were displayed near the high altar, while the pulpit was tastefully draped in the Irish colors, green and gold, all edged in black. Right Rev. Bishop O'Donnaghu presided at the altar, and presiding at the mass, and occupying seats reserved for them were Rev. George M. Connor, Very Rev. T. L. Crowley, O. P., Rev. John B. Pfeiffer and others of the clergy. Messrs. William T. Meahan, Peter J. Dowling, A. O'Brien and John J. Shelley were the ushers and had little difficulty in handling the big congregation assembled, which forcibly reminded one of the old Land League days and included the Kavanaghs, Clines, Rawleys, Henneys, Shelleys, Noonans, Callahans, Gavins, Dowlings, Hendricks, McCarthys, McMahons, Maloneyes, Caseys, Barretts, Lincolns, Welles, Laffays, Dohertys, Dolans, and in fact representatives of all the pioneer Irish families of Louisville and the Ancient Order of Hibernians and other organizations.

Just before the mass Mrs. Fred Harig, who presided at the organ, played Greg's funeral march. The Bishop and clergy upon entering the church proceeded through the main aisle to the high altar, when the mass was begun. The Rev. Father Daniel Driscoll, the Bishop's secretary, was celebrant, the Rev. Father Frank O'Connor, of the Cathedral of the Assumption, was deacon; the Rev. Father James Maloney, sub-deacon, and the Rev. Father Cletus Brady, rector of Sacred Heart Retreat, master of ceremonies.

Rev. Father William Gausepohl, the pastor, preached the sermon, saying the occasion was one of consecration to duty and heartfelt sympathy that reaches all over the world. Love of country was the motive and welfare of Ireland was the purpose of the men so cruelly executed. Father Gausepohl said the Irish patriots died for "God and country." He dwelt upon the pure motives that actuated the uncompromising young idealists, who gladly gave their lives for the cause. He pleaded for the "rest eternal" for the men who sacrificed life, hope and aspirations. He said the "roll of honor" included the best and bravest of the Irish—poets, sculptors, orators and lawyers. The speaker said the events of May of this year might be fittingly be called "the revolt of the intellectuals." Emotion was visible when he spoke of the love the Gael has for his native land and kin.

The Rev. Father Gausepohl dwelt upon the generosity of the Irish and their motto, "Memento Tuum." ("What is Mine is Thine"). He declared that no true Irishman could be a tyrant; that he had the courage of a lion and the heart of a child, and that only a long series of cruelties had goaded the martyrs into revolt for the land they loved better than life; for the land of which they so eloquently pleaded. The speaker expressed the hope that God will heal the wounds and will uplift those who are crushed by sorrow, and said that men like Pearse, McDonagh, Plunkett and others will live as immortals. In concluding he expressed the hope that God would bless Ireland, which was always civilized and never barbarian, and reward her patriots. The impressive ceremonies ended with prayers for peace by the priests and the congregation. As the Bishop and priests filed out in slow procession, "Forget Not the Field Where They Perished" was played on the organ, followed by the marching song of the Irish Volunteers, Thomas Davis' "A Nation Once Again."

Flowers were sent to the church by James Thompson, of Anchorage, as a mark of special sympathy. These flowers grew from seeds imported from Ireland.

The music of the mass was furnished by a choir of thirty voices, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Harig, the organist. Mrs. E. B. Rath sang Randegger's "Ave Maria."

STILL OUR DUTY.

The Philippines yet remain a point of intense responsibility to the Catholics of America. Because of the governmental action of the United States, it has become the duty of American Catholics to maintain a friendly interest in the future of the church in the Philippines. For many years American Catholics rallied splendidly to this duty, but under the pressure of the last few years general interest in the Philippines seems to have waned, and with it the immediate interest of American Catholics in their special responsibility to their brethren in the islands. For this reason it is most important that the plea of the Philippine missionaries for present aid be heeded. Any donations for this cause will be received by the Catholic Church Extension Society, McCormick building, Chicago, and promptly forwarded to destination.

FATHER JOSEPH NEWMAN.

Rev. Joseph Newman, who recently completed his theological studies at St. Thomas Seminary, Denver, and was ordained priest for the Louisville diocese by the Right Rev. Denis O'Donnaghu at St. Mary Magdalen's church, celebrated his first solemn mass at St. Michael's church, Fairfield, on Thursday. The following clergy officiated: Assistant priest, Rev. Richard Davis, brother to the Bishop of Davenport; deacon, Rev. B. J. Weight, O. S. B., of Finley; sub-deacon, Rev. Dominic Downa, of St. Bernard's College, St. Bernard, Ala. The Rev. Joseph Welsh, of Hopkinsville, preached the sermon for the occasion. Father Newman was born at Taylorville in 1889. His classical studies, commenced at Nazareth Academy under the Rev. Richard Pike, were completed at St. Bernard's College, Alabama. At this juncture, owing to the death of his parents, he was forced to provide for his brothers and sisters. But after a few years he was again afforded an opportunity of pursuing his studies. He entered St. Meinrad's Seminary in Indiana, where he made his philosophical studies, and in September, 1912, entered St. Thomas Seminary, Denver. The Denver Catholic Register says Father Newman has won golden opinions among the faculty and students at St. Thomas Seminary. He is a very able theologian. For application to study he has a surprising faculty. His future is certainly bright, for his intellectual abilities are no less rare than the depth of his sincerity and the warmth of his friendship.

CATHOLIC ORPHAN SOCIETY.

The weekly meetings of the Catholic Orphan Society are growing larger in attendance as the summer July grows near, and the preparations for the picnic are assuming large proportions. Much routine matter of importance was disposed of at the meeting Monday night, and if any encouragement was needed it was given by the eloquent and feeling address of Rev. C. P. Raffo, who congratulated the society on the great progress being made, and stated that steps were being taken by the society that would probably make it possible to realize the $10,000 hoped for at the picnic. "From the reading of your minutes and the reports," he said, "evidence is given that all are working steadily and faithfully that the banner picnic of all may be given on the coming month of July. Your earnestness is an unfailing indication of success." He made an eloquent plea for the orphans, and said no one could refuse anything for the orphans. All the committees are enthusiastic in the reception accorded them and Louis G. Russell voiced the general feeling when he said that merchants are glad of the opportunity to contribute to such a worthy cause.

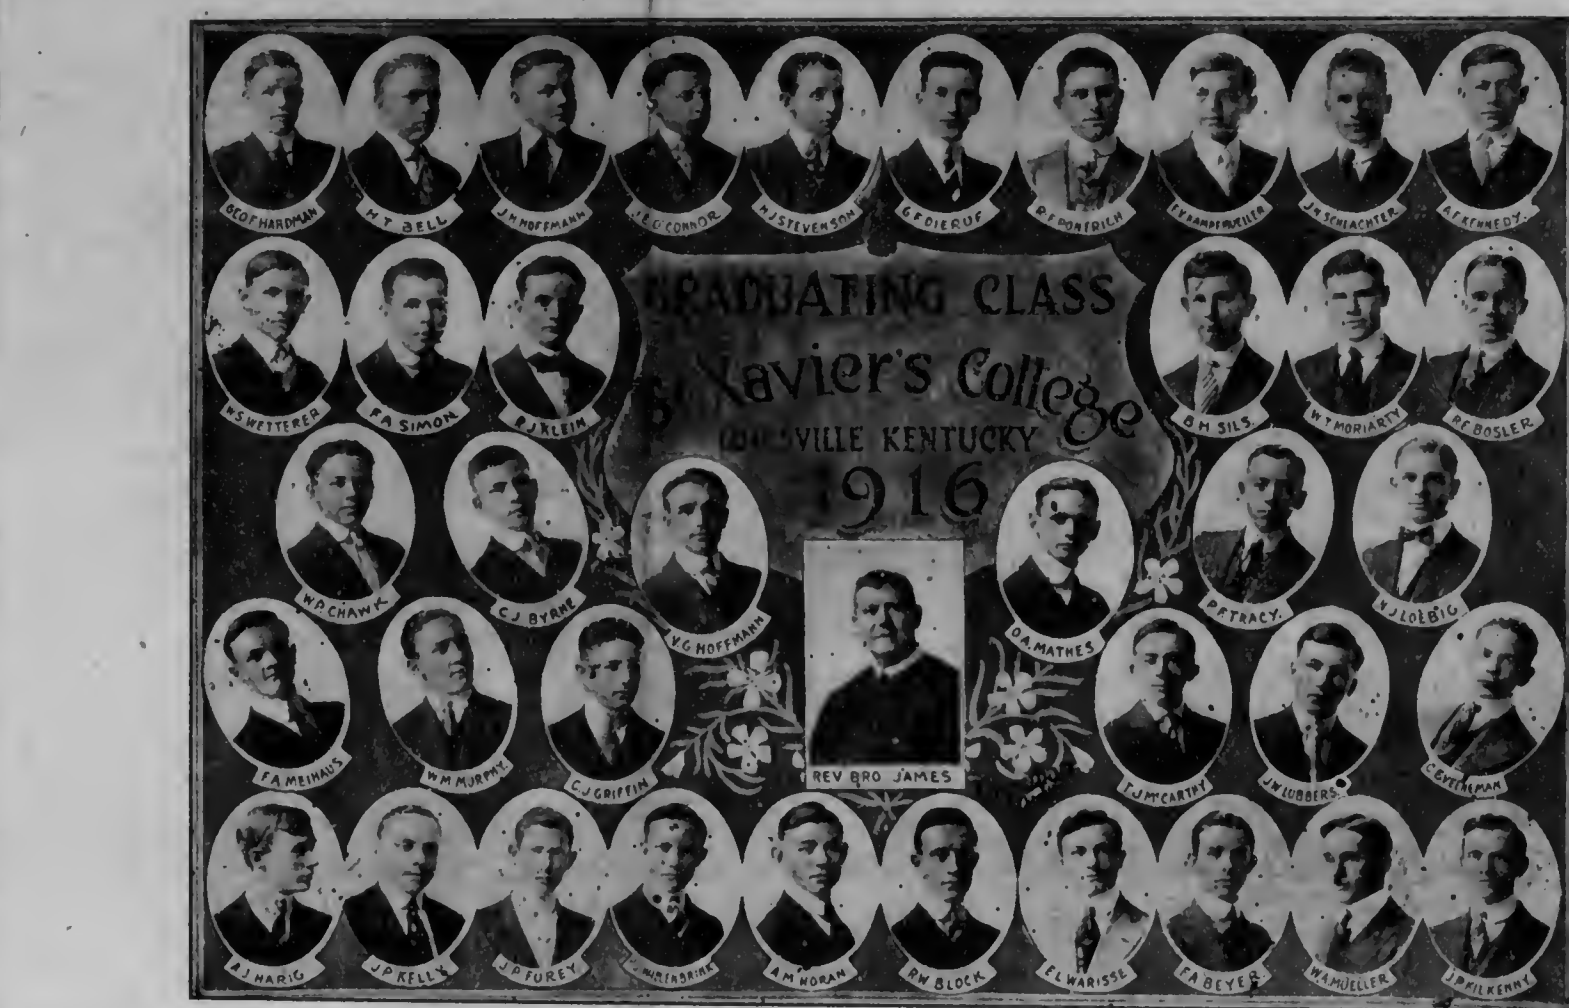

The following places have been selected to which supplies or donations for the picnic may be sent and they will be gathered up by a transportation committee and conveyed to the grounds of the picnic: J. Henry Lichtfeld, Twenty-sixth and Main; William T. Meahan, 725 South Floyd; Fred W. Bannan, 618 South Eighteenth; P. J. Liston, 1638 Dumesnil; Moriarty Bros., Sixth and Kentucky; S. M. Raffo, 420 West Market; C. E. Bender, Baxter and Bardotown road; Burr W. Overton, Third and Oak; Leo W. Goss, Jefferson and Shelby; Thomas E. Tarpy, 603 West Market; John L. Gruber, 436 North Twenty-eighth; Rogers Church Book Company, 129 South Fourth; Mrs. William Davis, 919 West Bell; Miss Rose Burky, 1700 Magazine; Louis Possee, 3604 Rudd avenue; George J. Butler, Twenty-first and Portland; Helck-Shelley Hardware Company, 3021 South Fourth.

CARROLLTON.

The handsome new St. John's church at Carrollton will be dedicated tomorrow with great and impressive ceremony and will be a memorable day for the Catholics of that city. Rev. Father Haffen and the congregation extend a cordial invitation to all to be present at the celebration. The ceremonies will begin with the blessing of the church by Right Rev. Bishop Brosart at 9:30 in the morning, followed by a Levitical high mass, to be celebrated by one of the visiting priests, assisted by deacon, sub-deacon and master of ceremonies. Rev. C. Brockhaus, of Cincinnati, an eloquent member of the Franciscan order, will deliver the sermon. The ceremonies of the day will close with a solemn requiem and benediction at 7:30 in the evening, when all present will join in singing the Te Deum.

LOWEST RECORD.

The number of emigrants from Ireland in 1915 was the lowest on record, being 10,792 (6,671 men and 4,121 women), and showing a decrease of 9,655 as compared with 1914. Of the men 6,567 and of the women 4,092 were natives of Ireland. Since 1851 4,309,300 natives of Ireland emigrated, the total emigration being 4,359,636 in that period.

SEEKING OFFICIAL SCAPEGOATS

Irish Press News Service.
Our correspondent, who was sent to Ireland in early May, has just returned. He watched carefully the proceedings of the British Government's official inquiry at Dublin and sums up the results so far of the investigation as follows:

"The inquiry into the causes of the rebellion proceeds slowly and seems to have turned in the direction of finding official scapegoats in Dublin Castle, who after a time will be retired to the pension list. Summing up the evidence so far taken, there is no doubt but that the revolution was precipitated by the plan of the military authorities to imprison the leaders of the Irish Volunteers and the citizens' army, the latter being trained unionists of Dublin and other Irish cities."

"On Easter Saturday the Government had decided to arrest leaders of the Irish Volunteers and Sinn Fein leaders. On Easter Sunday the Lord Lieutenant had decided to raid Liberty Hall with the aid of artillery and to blow up the building if resistance were offered. Liberty Hall was the headquarters of the citizens' army, composed entirely of labor unionists and Irish Volunteers. The constabulary, with the aid of the military, planned to arrest all the leaders simultaneously."

"On Easter Sunday night the authorities decided to arrest on the following day and to deport by special steamer to prisons in England all of the important Irish Volunteer and Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland, as well as the active members of the Dublin transport workers."

"Before these arrests could be made the Republicans gathered in force to resist and their uprising took place at noon on Easter Monday, the leaders having been advised in time of the decision of the Government above referred to, and they determined to get in the first blow."

"Our correspondent reports that for once in the history of the Irish rebellion the evidence shows that there were no spies or informers in the ranks of the leaders of the Irish Volunteers, the citizens' army or the Sinn Fein forces in Dublin or elsewhere in Ireland. The Secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, and Lord Lieutenant Wilmshere testified that the British Government had been unable to secure any information from the inner circles of the Irish Republican leaders."

"The number of rebels imprisoned in England and Ireland as of June 4 is not less than 2,900. The number of arrests during the past month is larger than the number of prisoners released. Our reporter has returned to Dublin to report in detail on the frightful condition of misery and poverty which he observed among the civilian population. The country is still under martial law."

SCATHING

Reply of Irish Bishop of Limerick
to English General "Butcher" Maxwell.

Refers to Brutal Slaughter of Irish Revolutionists By
Maxwell's Orders.

Says Regime One of Worst and Blackest in the History of Ireland.

MAXWELL COMPLAINS OF PRIESTS

During the recent Irish rebellion it was reported that many priests in Counties Clare, Cork, Limerick and Galway aided and advised the revolutionists to such extent that Gen. Sir John Maxwell, who has been made dictator in Ireland, sent a letter to Right Rev. Edward T. O'Dwyer, Bishop of Limerick, to suppress the activity of the priests and named two whom he accused of this activity. Maxwell is known as "Butcher Maxwell" because of his cruel and inhuman treatment of captured revolutionists, and is the same General who was removed from the front in France because of incompetency and a series of blunders. He was sent to Ireland by the English Government because he is a second edition of Oliver Cromwell and could be depended upon to carry out John Bull's dirty work. Take note of the scathing reply of Bishop O'Dwyer to the impertinent letter of Maxwell's and the reference to the slaughter of unarmed men: In his first letter to the Bishop Maxwell wrote:

"I have the honor to request Your Lordship's co-operation in a matter connected with the present deplorable situation in Ireland, the settlement of which I am confident you desire no less keenly than I do. I have the honor to request Your Lordship's co-operation in a matter connected with the present deplorable situation in Ireland, the settlement of which I am confident you desire no less keenly than I do. I have the honor to request Your Lordship's co-operation in a matter connected with the present deplorable situation in Ireland, the settlement of which I am confident you desire no less keenly than I do."

"I had these priests been laymen they would have already been under arrest. In this case I would be glad if Your Lordship would obviate the necessity for such action by moving the priests to such employment as will deny them having intercourse with the people, and inform me of your decision. To this the Bishop's Secretary replied, saying that the Bishop considered the action suggested a very severe punishment, which the Bishop had no right to inflict on these priests except on a definite charge, supported by evidence. If this was forthcoming the Bishop would investigate the matter. Maxwell then wrote and gave the following particulars:

"Father — has been reported as on November 14, 1915, speaking in his church at — against conscription. He is said to have attended a lecture by P. H. Pearse on "The Irish Volunteers of '82," and blessed the colors of the Irish Volunteers at — on January 2, 1916, also speaking at a meeting at — on March 17, 1915."

"Father — is said to have been active with a certain E. Blythe, organizing Irish Volunteers. In November, 1915, he got printed a large number of leaflets appealing to young men of the Gaelic Athletic Association to join the Irish Volunteers."

"He is said to be President of the Irish Volunteers at — and —. He is said to have been present at the Irish Volunteer meeting at — when a certain John McDermott delivered inflammatory and seditious speeches on March 17, 1916. If these reports be true, it should not be necessary for me to make

"A double wedding ceremony was performed at St. Charles Borromeo church Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Eleonora B. Klotz and Kelly F. Miles and Miss Emma J. Klotz and Peter J. Eechmann were married by the Rev. Father Charles P. Raffo, assisted by the Rev. Father Seraphim Schlang. Miss Esther Smith and Curtis W. Miles were attendants for the first couple and Miss Gertrude Klotz and Anthony Eechmann for the second. After the ceremony a dinner was served at the residence of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Klotz, 2631 West Madison street. All are popular young people of the West End."

DOMINICAN SISTERS VISIT.
Sister Doloretta, of the Dominican order and stationed in Boston, is here on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O'Sullivan, of South Seventh street. Sister Mary Plus, of Memphis, was also here this week on a visit to relatives.

definite charges, supported by evidence, against these priests, who, I imagine, will not deny their participation in the Irish Volunteer movement, which has led to such deplorable events all over Ireland. It should not be difficult for Your Lordship, under such disciplinary power as you possess, to prevent at any rate priests from mixing up with and inciting their flock to join an organization such as the Irish Volunteers have proved themselves to be."

The Bishop, so far from investigating, replied as follows: "I have read carefully your allegations against Rev. — and Rev. —, but do not see in them any justification for disciplinary action on my part. They are both excellent priests, who hold strong views, but I do not know that they have violated any law, civil or ecclesiastical."

You appealed to me to help you in the furtherance of your work as military dictator of Ireland. Even if action of this kind was not outside my province, the events of the past few weeks would make it impossible for me to have any part in proceedings of this kind, which are so wantonly cruel and oppressive. You remember the Jameson raid, when a number of buccanniers invaded a friendly State and fought the forces of the lawful Government. If ever men deserved the supreme punishment it was they, but officially and unofficially the influence of the British Government was used to save them, and it succeeded."

You took care that no plea for mercy should interpose on behalf of the poor young fellows who surrendered to you in Dublin. The first information which we got of their fate was the announcement that they had been shot in cold blood."

Personally, I regard your action with horror, and I believe that it has outraged the conscience of the country. The deportment by hundreds, and even thousands, of poor fellows without trial of any kind seems to me an abuse of power as fatuous as it is arbitrary, and altogether your regime has been one of the worst and blackest chapters in the history of the government of this country. I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

EDWARD THOMAS,
Bishop of Limerick.

PRIEST'S JUBILEE.

The silver jubilee of the Rev. Father Victor O'Daniel, O. P., was celebrated Tuesday at St. Rose church, Springfield, with fitting ceremony. High mass was sung by Father O'Daniel, with Fathers Flood and Durkin as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. The jubilee sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Christmas, Prior of St. Rose. At the conclusion of the services at the church the congregation and the many visiting clergymen and friends in attendance repaired to the sodality room, where Father O'Daniel was presented with twenty-five silver dollars, the presentation speech being made by John A. Polla. The jubilee service was attended by a number of priests from towns of Central Kentucky.

ADVANCE GAELIC STUDIES.

The Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago has established at the University of Illinois the Irish Fellowship foundation for the promotion of an interest in Gaelic studies. It has made an appropriation of $1,200 for the support of this foundation for the academic year 1916-17. The University of Illinois will probably appoint E. H. Lloyd, of Dublin, former Secretary of the Gaelic Society, to carry on the work of research into Gaelic history and literature on this foundation during the coming year. Mr. Lloyd is a distinguished scholar in the field of Irish language, literature and history. This foundation is the immediate result of a presentation of the cause of Irish history and literature by President E. J. James and Dr. Gertrude Schoepferle at recent meetings of the Irish Fellowship Club in Chicago. Justice John P. McGorty is its President, Ryan Twomey Recording Secretary, and James O'Shaughnessy Corresponding Secretary.

WILSON'S

Proverbial Luck Being Exemplified in Developments of Present Campaign.

Under Normal Conditions Would
Not Have Possible Chance
Against Hughes.

Democratic Campaign Committee Should Warn Papers of Unwise Policy.

THE LOCAL SCHOOL ELECTION

From a political view the threatened war again emphasizes what has often been said of President Woodrow Wilson—that he is a favorite of the Goddess of Fortune and blessed with proverbial luck. The writer as a Democrat and viewing the situation from an unbiased standpoint, could not see even a slight chance for Wilson's success in November with everything in normal shape, and that his chance of beating Hughes, the choice of the united Progressive and Republican parties, was one in a hundred. This can be accounted for easily enough. The warning of Americans to stay out of Mexico while the failure to warn Americans to stay off of ships carrying ammunition for the Allies was one, and this first reason alienated the German-American vote and its sympathizers. The second and most injurious cause to re-election was his conduct of Mexican affairs, and in this he blundered horribly, as present events now prove. His failure to compel or even ask for the resignation of Carranza, to stop the outrages of mums and persecution of priests was most grievous, and to add to that mistake, he chased the clergymen and higher authorities of the Catholic church and "blasted" when they presented the facts as to conditions in Mexico, never making one effort in behalf of religious liberty. This insult cost him the support of Catholics everywhere.

Now this is where the proverbial "Wilson luck" breaks down. With in sight and of several months' duration at the shortest, the American people will be prone to follow precedent and support the President during the progress of strife. Regardless of their feelings, the grievances the public will support in a great majority, and that it is true is already shown by the attitude of the local Republican organ, which is but a duplicate of Republican papers elsewhere. The Herald intimates that it is a game of politics the President is playing by preparing for war with Mexico and accuses him of playing to the galleries. Despite this two-facedness, which is justified or not Wilson's chances of re-election are a 100 per cent, brighter and many of the voters who do not admire him or his policies will be found supporting him in November if the war is on. And among that support will be found the German-Americans, Irish-Americans and others of the hyphenated brand, whom he attempted to ostracize, but who are Americans first, as is proven by the daily publication of the recruits offered for service to their country, these lists bristling with hyphenated names.

Now that the State Democratic Committee is organized and preparing for the November election the sixth annual "Carranza" Cantata and his associates should be called to the attitude of some of the Democratic press throughout the State, of which the Courier-Journal, Times and Post here are examples. Hardly a day passes but these papers contain news of Carranza's efforts to the German-American vote from the Democratic party, not only in the coming election but in elections to come. This daily hammering of Hughes being the Kaiser's candidate and continuing to toy with the Germans to support him as a unit will have this effect. In the aggregate the German-American vote throughout the United States is 75 or 80 per cent, Republican, but in this country the Democratic party and candidates, and especially right here in Louisville, where Kentucky depends for its big majorities, the ticket is saved in close elections, as was the case last year. Now if this policy is persisted in it will mean the defeat of Shelby in this district sure and the loss of the ticket throughout the State.

A citizen inquires of the Kentucky Irish American in regard to the coming election of two members of the Board of Education: "Judging from the tone of the statements issued in behalf of the present Board of Education the people are required to support, but are not allowed to select." The correspondent aptly expresses the opinion of many just now, and as has been stated in these columns before. The people as a whole are tired of having candidates selected for them by a choice few, to the obedience last the people to whom they should be responsible. Then again there is a splendid opportunity for the upbuilding of a political machine with trust officers, janitors, teachers, etc., who must first of all obey their bosses. As an instance, the last trust officer chosen by the board is an active war politician and one of the prime leaders of the Axtou Bull Moose faction.

AMERICANISM.

Every American, native or foreign-born, is for "Americanism." If by Americanism is understood to be loyal to this country as against all the world or as against any individual country.

To the mind of the Indiana Catholic the cry "America First" was an insult to the citizenship of the United States, for it was presuming that there were Americans who were not for America first. There has been too much nonsense talked on the subject, too much suspicion stirred up and the loudest shouters of the slogan have put themselves under suspicion. An American of German extraction may shudder at the thought of Germany and the United States going to war and he may do all in his power to prevent such a war between the Republic and the Fatherland. Does that mean that if war came he would be false to the United States? A man of Irish blood may want to help Ireland to liberty. Does that mean that he would put the interests of the United States behind those of Ireland? The only danger to Americanism is from the real foreign garrison here, the American Tories and the unnaturalized English and their money. They were against the United States in three critical junctures—the Revolution, the time of the Hartford convention or conspiracy for the secession of New England to Canada, and during the civil war. Those are the foes of "Americanism." All else are true to the Stars and Stripes and all that the flag stands for. This is borne out by the enlistments now taking place everywhere throughout the country.

CRAWL IN HOLE.

It's an ill wind that blows no one good will now be demonstrated in our little difficulty with Mexico. The Junior Order, Guardians of Liberty and other kindred patriots (?), who have been frantically waving the American flag and posing as our country's only defenders, have been conspicuous at flag raisings, parades, etc., and always led in the singing of our national airs. But now in time of enlistments and recruiting they can not be found with a search warrant, but the strangest fact of all is that one wonders why they don't jump at the idea of fighting a Catholic country, especially when their rabid anti-Catholic sentiment is considered.

ULSTER AND THE FUTURE.

We have been so accustomed to regard Ireland as a political whole that the proposal to re-establish within its boundaries an English Pale outrages our national feelings and takes our national pride down not one peg but many, writes the editor of the New York Advocate. An Ireland divided has never figured in our dreams of national progress. It is foreign to our ideals of liberty. As a matter of historical fact, however, Ireland never was a nation in the modern sense, inasmuch as it never achieved a close political union of all its provinces. Even in her palmiest days her Ardriah was in reality but the King of Cuige Midhe, his supreme kingship having no more than a sentimental value. The other Kings were supreme in their own domain and often made war on and exacted tribute from the Ardriah. The patriotism which regards Ireland as a political unit was unknown in those days and hence the Irish Kings and Princes readily acknowledged Henry the Second as "Lord of Ireland" because the title meant nothing to them, while it left them masters of their own territories. The people did not look upon themselves as citizens of Ireland, but as citizens of the several independent States. In a certain geographical division of the earth called Ireland. It is to this lamentable fact that Ireland's long martyrdom is due. We can not therefore appeal to our history for arguments against the proposed dividing of Ireland into two parts. Now while every fibre of our being revolts against the division, at the same time let us try to consider the proposal from the viewpoint of practical politics. Ulster, by which of course we mean Unionist Ulster, is at present violently opposed to home rule. If home rule be forced upon her it will mean an era of turmoil and obstruction, which very probably would ultimately result in wrecking the Irish Parliament and bring about a repeal of the act as soon as the Tories come into power. On the other hand, by excluding Ulster the Irish Parliament will be enabled to apply itself to the betterment of the people within its jurisdiction, unhampered by vexatious questions. But what will exclusion mean for Ulster? It will mean that her banking institutions will be obliged to retire from a profitable southern field; it will mean that her great wholesale institutions will look in vain for orders from the south which accounted for 70 per cent. of their business; it will mean that her manufacturers will be obliged to build factories in the south to save themselves from ruin and so on. The Ulster Unionist stomach is more easily convinced if properly appealed to than the thinking part of his anatomy, and hence it is safe to predict that within a very few years he will clamor more loudly for inclusion within the ambit of home rule than he is clamoring now for exclusion. The exclusion of Ulster, however much against the grain it may be, is not therefore to be regarded as a national calamity. Rather does it seem to be dictated by the truest political wisdom, since it is the one means of bringing Ulster into line with the rest of Ireland by her own volition.

LITTLE TO CHOOSE.

It is probable that "Americanism" (in a political sense) will be agitated in the coming campaign as never before. There is evidently a desire on the part of some Democratic leaders to make an issue of it. But there is little to choose between the two parties on that score. Mr. Hughes says that his Americanism is "undiluted," which is almost up to the standard of Col. Roosevelt. Probably there will be different markings to distinguish the different grades of Americanism. It is all very ridiculous and only politicians fail to grasp the humor of it.

FEATURE THAT APPLIES.

Newspapers have been publishing various interpretations of the recent decree on dances for church purposes. Most of these have no meaning whatever. The decree itself is plain enough. Parishes can not give balls to increase parish revenues. Catholic societies are placed under no restriction in this respect. It is the parish dance that is forbidden, and the presence of a priest at any hall is interdicted. That is the only new feature of the legislation as it applies to the United States.

THEY WON'T.

Some English non-Catholics want Cardinal Logue, of Ireland, to excommunicate Catholic Sinn Feiners, and an English officer has requested another Bishop to discipline two priests who were involved in the recent rebellion. Needless to say the Bishop has refused. Nor will the Cardinal act. Persons who preach most about mixing religion with politics are the first to request it when the mixing would be to their liking.

BOUTQUETS FOR FOSTER.

It is seldom if ever that a penal institution proves an advertisement to a community, but the educational and instructive reforms introduced under the regime of Jailer Charles Foster has attracted much favorable attention to Louisville's battle. Jailer Foster has proven to be the right man for the place.

The gallant Irish Sixty-ninth Infantry, that has won fame on many battlefields in defense of the United States, was the first to enter camp in response to President Wilson's order calling out the New York State troops for service on the Mexican border.

You can not possibly invest a dollar to better advantage than in a year's subscription to the Kentucky Irish American.

Every Catholic man ought to belong to a Catholic society. It will benefit him in a hundred and one ways.

Let not politics excite you nor the arguments pro and con disturb you.

Carranza and his minions should have been whipped long ago.

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS.

One of the most brilliant of the June weddings was that of Miss Virginia Murphy and Oscar A. Buehler, which was solemnized Wednesday morning at the Cathedral, Rev. Father Cook performing the ceremony and celebrating the nuptial mass. The wedding march was led by the ushers, Messrs. Robert T. Burke, Joseph McNamara, William Sandmann and Francis Ansbach. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Daniel F. Murphy. Mrs. Joseph Donahue, of South Bend, was matron of honor, and Edward Buehler was best man. Little Miss Mary Dennis Murphy, a cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer. She wore a dainty lingerie dress over pink and carried a little French bouquet of tiny pink, rosebuds and corn flowers. The bride was beautifully gowned in white tulle and real Irish lace. Her train of tulle was caught with rosebuds of satin. The bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a French bouquet. Her only ornament was a pearl pin, the gift of the groom. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate families of the bride couple at the home of the bride's parents in Windsor Place. Immediately after the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Buehler left for an Eastern bridal trip. They will be at home after August 1 at Cherokee Plaza.

Governmental Tendency Toward
Co-operation With Private Organization.

The Federal Employment Bureau
For Women Furnishes
Real Confidence.

Quite Likely to Become the Opportunity For General Misuse.

MUST BE WATCHED CAREFULLY

A statement appearing in the New York newspapers of a few days ago calls renewed attention to a matter that can not be any longer altogether ignored. The statement deals with the formation of the new Federal Employment Bureau for Women. It gives one more evidence of the fact, which has been pointed to several times of late, that the Governmental bureaus are more and more becoming associated in an intimate way with private associations in the carrying on of their official work. On that account it is deserving of quotation.

"Organization of a Federal Employment Bureau for Women and Girls," it says, "one of the most important steps ever taken by the Department of Labor, has been announced. It was learned today through the Civil Service Reform Department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, now in convention here. The Commissioner General of Immigration, A. Caminetti, is in New York attending to the details of the organization. At the invitation of the Civil Service Reform Department he has made several informal speeches explaining this new department of the Government. Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, who is to be the active head of the employment exchange,
was designated by the Department of Labor to represent it in making the announcement before the General Federation. This is the first time, convention officials say, that representatives of the Federal Government, as such, have been delegated to the convention of the General Federation."

The new bureau is not only to engage in the task of finding positions for working women, but is likewise to engage in the work of guidance. The policies of the bureau are to be, it is stated,
on a thoroughly practical basis.
No women are to be directed to places where labor troubles exist.
No applicant for employment is to be advised to leave one locality unless she has knowledge of the conditions existing in other places. "No woman or girl should be directed to an opportunity unless the character of the place and the employer has been established to the satisfaction of the superintendent or other officer in charge of the division."

"In this work," it is said, "Commissioner Caminetti has asked the assistance and co-operation of the women of the General Federation.
It bears directly upon the greater development of immigrant Americanization," he believes. "It has aids in the work which the General Federation is carrying on in the interest of civil service extension.
"By the establishment of this new bureau," the Chairman of the Civil Service Reform Department of the Federation said, "called the United States Employment Service, women and girls' division, vocational service will be rendered not only to women and girls in the cities, but to those who are in the rural districts, to newly arrived immigrants, and women out of touch with the ways and means of the industrial world."

With the extension of the Governmental work of employment this planned commendation can only be expressed. That certain organizations, such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, have taken such a vital interest in the matter is also pleasing to note. We can not fail, however, to reiterate the warning of the necessity of watching this tendency on the part of Governmental agencies to become so closely connected with private associations. These associations, it must be remembered, have their own private ideas and philosophy, with which the general citizenship may not agree. In the present instance the offense may not be so flagrant in that the bureau invites the assistance of other private agencies for its work.

In the case of the Bureau of Education and the Americanization Committee not even this was done.
But it could certainly have been hoped that the Commissioner General of Immigration had chosen a channel to announce the extension of the work of this department rather than the private means that he did make use of. The presence of a special representative in the convention in such an intimate capacity does, in addition, indicate a very close connection between the organization and the department. The tendency in the direction indicated is without a doubt in existence and becoming more pronounced. Its dangers are quite patent. We must insist that the public work be carried on by the Governmental agencies as such and that any co-operation that may be required should be general and open to all. We must also strongly reemphasize the fact that this tendency must be watched, and watched carefully. Otherwise it is quite likely to become the opportunity for the general misuse and perversion of our Governmental departments.

DECRIES IRISH DEATHS.

Throughout the entire country
the people are as one in decrying
the deaths of those who participated in the Dublin uprising. The following resolutions criticizing the English Government for its treatment of the victims, passed by the Chicago Irish Fellowship Club at its weekly luncheon Saturday in the Hotel La Salle, are like unto those being passed everywhere:

Resolved, That we abhor and detest the criminal rule of England in Ireland, and invite the attention of the American people to the hypocrisy and mendacity of Britain's claim as the protector and champion of weak and smaller nations, while trampling upon Ireland's liberties.

Resolved, That we extend in this dark hour to the people of Ireland
our profound sympathy and pledge to them our support in their heroic and unceasing struggle in the cause of Ireland's freedom, a struggle
that has won for them the admiration of mankind.

Resolved, That we shall ever cherish the memories of Patrick Pearse and his brave compatriots,
who in dying for their country
reasserted in the world Ireland's undying claim to nationality.

PLEA FOR FAIR PLAY.

Von Jagow, the German Secretary of State, makes the following statement in behalf of fair play in the European war. He says that the German Government was willing to pay for the expense of repairing the cable, thus allowing the American correspondents the true story of the war to our newspapers, and England flatly refused, preferring to doctor and color the news. Secretary Von Jagow said further in regard to the attitude of the American press: "When our Zeppelin attack London, which is a fortified city defended with cannon, the American papers teem with the most vitriolic articles about the 'Huns.' When the armies of the Allies attack unprotected German towns and villages, killing old women and children, there is no word of protest
in these papers."

PHOTOGRAPH OF GERMAN TRANSATLANTIC SUBMARINE.

According to information from a reliable source just received, New York is about to witness the arrival of a German transatlantic submarine merchantman. The undersea 4, will carry ten passengers, German and a cargo of chemicals valued at $20,000,000.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

The happiest man in these parts last Sunday evening was Manager "Boots" Murphy, and his glee was over the fact that his Olympics had beaten the Champs in a 2 to 0 game, the victory being principally due to the pitching of Finnegan and the timely hit of the aggressive manager. The K. of C. after striking their stride had easy sailing with Trinity, winning in a 10 to 4 game. Mattingly, of the leaders, striking out fourteen men. The Imperials beat Bertrand 8 to 6, Manager Ray Haragan not being in shape to pitch yet. Johnny Murphy needing a rest. Mackin shut out the Orioles 3 to 0, the latter putting up a better contest than the score shows. Tomorrow the K. of C. meets the Olympics, while the Champs take on Trinity. Mackin plays the Imperials and Orioles look up with Bertrands. The standing to date:

Clubs	W.	L.	Pct
K of C	9	1	.900
Champs	8	2	.800
Mackin	6	4	.600
Bertrands	5	5	.500
Orioles	4	6	.400
Imperialists	4	6	.400
Trinity	0	10	.000

Ray Haragan, the clever twirler and manager of the Bertrand team, is receiving quite a complimentary vote in the popularity contest of the Kentucky Irish American and his friends assert that he is sure to be one of the two members of

CHRISTY MATHEWSON.
Celebrated veteran pitcher of the New York Giants.

OWENSBORO.

One of the most interesting of the June weddings was witnessed by a large gathering on Tuesday morning at St. Paul's church, Owensboro, when Edward B. Rodman led to the altar Miss Fannie Mae Cruise, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Cruise, of that city. Rev. Father Fitzgerald performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass. The groom is a son of James S. Rodman, also of Owensboro, and is a well known and popular young man.

PATRONS PLEASED.

Patrons of the Fontaine Ferry Park Theater have been agreeably pleased with the better vaudeville being presented this season, and the steadily increasing business is indication that the public appreciates the meritorious vaudeville being offered. A bill of unusual merit is in prospect in the theater commencing with a matinee tomorrow afternoon. On Tuesday evening the Liederkranz Singing Society will hold their annual summer night's festival at the park. A chorus of 100 mixed voices will participate in the affair in addition to the solo to be rendered by the best talent attainable. The coupons given with tickets of admission to the park are good for admission to the theater or dance pavilion. The big 'sanitary' swimming pool is enjoying great popularity this season. Bathers are admitted to the park free at all times.

ANOTHER PRIEST INVENTOR.

Another name is now added to the list of priest inventors, an automatic device by which trains in danger are stopped without action of either the trainmen or tower-men having been invented by the Rev. Thomas J. Glynn, of Beaver Falls, Pa. The invention is very simple in form. A fine steel rod is attached at one end to the arm on the signal tower. At the other end of the rod, near the brake, a lever is attached. When the signal arm raises to the danger sign and train stop point it pulls the rod and erects the track lever. Another lever is extended from the engine of the passing train. When this engine lever comes in contact with the brake lever it sets the air brake and stops the train without the aid of the engineer or the tower man.

CATHOLIC WEEK.

During the week beginning Sunday, August 20, New York City will have a "Catholic week" that will undoubtedly be the greatest religious demonstration ever held in this country, when thousands of Catholic men and women will join with the 2,000,000 Catholics of the Empire City in a grand manifestation of faith and loyalty. The occasion will be the annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, the German Catholic Central Verein, the Catholic Young Men's National Union and of the Catholic Press Association. The Catholic week will be held under the patronage of His Eminence Cardinal Farley and will be attended by Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore; Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston; Archbishop Bonzano, the Apostolic Delegate, and numerous Archbishops and Bishops from all parts of the country.

IRISH AND JEWS.

New York has both the largest Irish and Jewish population of any city in the world.

MANAGER OF THE GIANTS.
John McGraw has built up another fine team.

BERTRAND MINSTRELS SCORE.

The Bertrand Minstrels made a decided hit this week in their two performances Monday and Tuesday in Bertrand Hall, and especially favorable are the comments because of the fact that last year was the first and only appearance of these young men in amateur theatricals. In the opening number, "A Breach of Promise," Leo P. Kelly and Joe Burke gave splendid interpretations of opposing attorneys, while Martin Mullane, as the winsome but aged spinster, and Walter Meagher, as the dignified Judge, made a good impression. Frank Cullen looked the part of the sixteen-year-old maiden, and Jim Hogan scored a decided hit as the society matron, his impersonation of the character being splendid and his appearance made a big hit with the audience. In the minstrels Louis Walsh made a good interloper, while Ed Wolfe was a natural coon end man, and his little asides were a feature. Ed McGrath looked the part of a healthy and music loving policeman. Very Rev. Father Crowley, who coached the performers, was the recipient of much favorable comment from the well pleased audiences.

TOLEDO'S FIRST VISIT.

The Louisville club will close its road trip with a double-header at Kansas City tomorrow and then start homeward, opening here with Roger Bresnahan's Toledo team on Tuesday, and this will be that club's first visit here, although the season is over two months old. The unfavorable showing of the Colonels on the road should be attributed to one thing, and that is the lopsided schedule which compelled the home team to play forty-six games on the road since the season's opening against twenty-six at home up to tomorrow. Manager Clymer is confident, however, that now with his long stay at home they will retrieve lost ground and again be in the battle for the flag. The prediction was made in these columns at the outset that the pennant lay between Louisville and Minneapolis, and there is no discount to that prediction at this date. The Indianapolis team is playing past its form, while the Kansas City team is not consistent, a long losing streak being sure to follow its winning one.

LEXINGTON.

Patrick Murray, eighty-three years old, one of the oldest and best known Irish citizens of Lexington, died at his home, 521 West High street, Sunday morning from the infirmities of age. Mr. Murray was born in the County Roscommon, Ireland, and came to this country in 1835, returning later to Ireland. After his marriage in 1852 he again came to this country and had since been a resident of Lexington. He is survived by two sons and four daughters, John J. Murray, T. D. Murray, Mrs. William M. Irvine, Miss Katie Murray and Miss Ellie Murray, all of Lexington, and Mrs. Thomas F. Quinn, of New York.
